Funding provided by the
Crime Victim Services Commission,
Michigan Department of Community Health

By Tobin L. Miller, J.D.

With assistance from the
Crime Victim Rights Manual
Editorial Advisory Committee

This project, the Crime Victim Rights Manual, was supported by Crime Victim Assistance Grant Award CVA# 20725-1V98 awarded to the Michigan Judicial Institute by the Michigan Crime Victim Services Commission. Eighty percent of the grant award came from the Federal Crime Victims Fund, established by the Victims of Crime Act of 1984. The Michigan Judicial Institute provided the required matching funds.

The opinions, findings, and conclusions or recommendations expressed in this publication are those of the author and Editorial Advisory Committee and do not necessarily reflect the view of the U.S. Department of Justice or the Michigan Department of Community Health.

Acknowledgments

The first edition of the Crime Victim Rights Manual was funded by the Crime Victim Services Commission, Michigan Department of Community Health. The Michigan Judicial Institute (MJl) thanks the Crime Victim Services Commission and Michigan Department of Community Health for their generous support.

This manual discusses in detail the Crime Victim's Rights Act, Article 1, Section 24, of the Michigan Constitution, and provisions of substantive and procedural criminal law that deal with crime victim participation in justice system proceedings. In addition, the manual contains information on the psychological impact of victimization and a list of print and electronic resources. The goal was to produce a clear and balanced reference source for the benefit of those who interact with and assist crime victims.

Work on the first edition of this manual was overseen by an Editorial Advisory Committee comprised of experts on issues regarding crime victims and their participation in justice system proceedings. Editorial Advisory Committee members assisted the author in selecting topics for discussion and organizing the material in the manual. They also spent many hours reviewing those portions of the text that addressed their areas of expertise. The Michigan Judicial Institute gratefully acknowledges the time, helpful advice, and expertise contributed by the following Editorial Advisory Committee members.
